Radiation Oncology
The Cancer Center at Renaissance is equipped with highly advanced radiation therapy equipment. Services provided at the Cancer Center at Renaissance include Intensity Modulated Radiation Therapy (IMRT), Image Guided Radiation Therapy (IGRT), Stereo-tactic Radiosurgery (SRS), MammomSite Radiation Therapy, and High Dose Rate Brachytherapy (HDR).

High-Dose Rate Brachytherapy or HDR is a form of “internal” or “local” cancer treatment that places the radiation at the source of the tumor. HDR treatments are typically given over a few days as compared to a few weeks. HDR typically has fewer side effects due to the close proximity of the radiation source to the tumor site.

MammomSite Radiation Therapy is a form of HDR treatment. It is typically used for patients who have been diagnosed with breast cancer. Patient's who have had a lumpectomy, could possibly be a candidate for MammomSite HDR treatments. Some advantages of MammomSite are:
- MammomSite places the radiation source inside the lumpectomy cavity (the space left when a tumor is removed). This delivers radiation to the area where cancer is most likely to recur.
- Clinical trials for the MammomSite Radiation Therapy System have shown it to be well tolerated, with mild side effects for a short period of time.
- The therapy is given on an outpatient basis. No hospital stay is required.
- 83.3% of the patients had good/excellent cosmetic results 100% of patients in the initial clinical trial would recommend MammomSite to a friend or family member.

Stereotactic Radiosurgery is the very precise delivery of radiation to a brain tumor while sparing the surrounding normal brain tissue.
